THE ROOF IS FINISHED!

The outside of the roof before

After three months of work, the roof has finally been totally redone on the mill side and re-covered on the side that houses the ancient "ressence".

Come visit the mill and see the magnificent new timbers!

And that's just the beginning!
The renovation continues!

THE WORK ON THE GRINDSTONE IS COMING!

During the second half of October:

Replacement of the grindstone, the wooden framework, and the metal turning mechanism – three elements that must all work together. We will let you know the exact dates in case you'd like to help replace the grindstone and get it back in working order. We could use your help!

THIS SUMMER'S PROJECTS

Many thanks to our volunteers: Stéphane, Christian, Robert, Lucien, Francis, Piero, Philippe, Danielle, Joe...

...who worked like crazy to give the boutique space such a lovely, welcoming appearance.

And look at this amazing fresco that Ben Haenen did in only three days!!

EUROPEAN HERITAGE DAYS

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 10H TO 17H

Guided tours of the mill in French and English
throughout the day
Tastings of our delicious olive oil
Shopping at the boutique

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 11H TO 17H

Dedication of the new roof
Sardinade (sorry; we are full)

Bring your own plates, glasses, and flatware.

Come taste the olive oil that we have been decanting naturally since January and that we have just opened up!

The hot summer with little rain was not good for olives; it was the same weather pattern as three years ago. If it doesn't rain in September, the olives are going to fall prematurely and the production level will be very irregular in our area this year. We may open the mill for processing on November 2. We will confirm this with you, as it will be based on demand as well as the working condition of the new grindstone.
